Jim Spears Joins GSC's Administration

Jim Spears

James W. "Jim" Spears recently became Glenville State College's Senior Vice President for External Relations and Morris Endowed Professor for Criminal Justice. His duties began December 1, 2010.

Spears came to GSC from Charleston where he was serving as Governor Joe Manchin's Chief of Staff. Spears formerly served as Secretary of Military Affairs and Public Safety for the State of WV where he oversaw 12 divisions of approximately 12,000 employees with a budget of over $500 million and served as Governor Manchin's homeland security adviser. Divisions in DMAPS include the Adjutant General/WV National Guard, Corrections, Criminal Justice Services, Homeland Security and Emergency Management, Juvenile Services, Protective Services, Veterans Affairs, Parole Board, Regional Jail and Correctional Facility Authority, State Fire Marshal, State Police, and the Homeland Security State Administrative Agency.

"This is a perfect match that allows Jim's vast knowledge in criminal justice and security to fill an expanding niche at Glenville State College," said Manchin.

"We are extremely pleased that Jim accepted our offer," Glenville State College President Peter Barr said. "Having someone of his knowledge and caliber is a rare opportunity for the College to continue to grow as a leader in the field of Criminal Justice Studies. We are also looking forward to his counsel in our outreach at both the State and Federal levels."

Mr. Spears is working closely with the College's Advancement Office and with Public Relations and Marketing in addition to his duties at the Morris Criminal Justice Training Center and with his many external contacts.

Spears is a native of Elkins and a graduate of Davidson College in North Carolina, where he earned a bachelor's degree in history and graduated as an ROTC distinguished military graduate. While serving in the U.S. Army, he completed a master's degree in International Relations from the University of Southern California. He also attended several post-graduate military and State Department programs in France, Washington, and California, and he speaks French, German, and Slovak languages.

Spears was a principal adviser to six U.S. ambassadors in Luxemburg, Slovakia, and Africa. His experience includes the coordination of congressional and public affairs for the Defense Intelligence Agency and developing peacekeeping assistance programs in Africa. He served for 22 years as a U.S. Army officer before retiring from the military.

A world traveler, he has criss-crossed the African continent multiple times and lived in various countries for almost 14 years. Mr. Spears is married and has four children.

GSC Professor Dr. Rico Gazal Wins Award

Dr. Rico Gazal

Glenville State College Professor Rico Gazal recently won the Cyrus Vance Award from the West Virginia Department of Education and the Arts. The award allows Gazal to create a collaborative project between GSC and Kyushu University in Japan so that undergraduate students from both schools will be able to conduct research in invasive plant species. Long range, Gazal hopes to create a faculty and student exchange program with Kyushu University. He will be taking two students in GSC's Forestry program to Japan for 10 days in June of this year and next spring will be having a web meeting between the two institutions about their research. Gazal is also involving Gilmer County High School with this research. He has been an assistant professor of forestry at Glenville State College since 2005.

WGSC Soon to be Back on the Air

Glenville State College will soon have a Top 40 radio station. Plans are being made for a new media center, which will include this radio station, to be located on the first floor of the Mollohan Center. It will be powered by GSC's students and advised by GSC faculty and staff.

Full details on the station have yet to be released but indications seem to be that this will be a noncommercial station. The station will report on GSC's news and activities, including all sports. It will not report on the entire game but will give listeners highlights of scores and plays.

The radio station/broadcasting/media room is expected to be up and running during the 2011-2012 academic year.

The second section of Goodwin Hall (tallest part of the building and in this picture's foreground) opened in time for January 2011 classes. The new residence hall is now completed. It has 184 single rooms and 137 double ones with each two rooms sharing a common bathroom. Additionally the facility has 16 ADA compliant rooms. Each single room is furnished with a desk, chair, dresser, wardrobe, bed, refrigerator, and microwave. On each floor, students have use of a study lounge, a laundry room, a vending machine quarter, and a small commons area with sink. All rooms have wireless and Ethernet hookup and cable TV. This state-of-the-art facility is impressive to visitors and prospective students and has been a real sense of pride for the College's faculty and staff. It has proven to be a big recruiting tool for the institution.

Alums returning to campus for Alumni Day on Saturday, April 16, 2011 won't want to miss the opportunity to tour this modern facility between the hours of 2:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Building a Legacy

It should be your finest, not necessarily your final statement.

As you approach determining how you want to be remembered, it is important to not forget how you became the person you are. Your parents and grandparents were the generations that lived through the great depression. They instilled in you the importance of saving. They made sure you knew how to fully utilize resources, to make something out of little by applying old fashioned hard work to basic materials. That was their legacy for you.

As a graduate of Glenville State College, you made the long, winding trip through the scenic West Virginia hills to a special place; a place where the value of education was understood. Many of you have often reminded us that Glenville State provided you with not only an excellent chance to succeed, but in many instances, the only chance to attend college.

Help ensure that the generations to come have that same opportunity by making Glenville State College a part of your legacy. Our Hidden Promise Scholar program and our recognized leadership role in educating first generation college attendees from West Virginia show our continuing commitment to transforming lives and improving our state. Contact the Glenville State College Foundation office for assistance in making a lasting contribution through thoughtful estate planning.

Lady Pioneers Win WVIAC Conference Crown

Our Glenville State College Lady Pioneers claimed the 2011 WVIAC Tournament Championship as they defeated the University of Charleston Golden Eagles 77-73 on Saturday, March 5, 2011.

The Lady Pioneers, under second year Head Coach Bunky Harkleroad, controlled the tempo for most of the game, building a 16 point lead before Charleston made a late run with three minutes to go. The Golden Eagles cut the lead to just two points with under a minute to play; however freshman Kenyell Goodson (from Reynoldsburg, OH) calmly buried two free throws to ice the victory for Glenville State.

For the game, GSC hit on 41.8 percent of its shots while UC made 40.8 percent of its attempts.

The Conference victory earned the Lady Pioneers a berth in the 2011 NCAA Division II Atlantic Regional Tournament that was played at Edinboro University in Edinboro, PA on Friday, March 11, 2011. Unfortunately the Lady Pioneers lost by just five points to Johnson C. Smith of Charlotte, NC at Friday's game.

The showing was the Lady Pioneers seventh NCAA Tournament appearance. GSC won the Regional Tournament in 2002 and 2007, advancing to the NCAA Division II Women's Final Four in 2002 and to the Elite Eight in 2007. This was their first regional appearance since 2007.

Baseball is Back at GSC

After nearly a three decade hiatus, the sport of baseball is returning to Glenville State College. The official announcement was made in the President's Auditorium of the Harry B. Heflin Administration Building on Tuesday, March 1, 2011 by GSC President Peter Barr, Interim Head Coach Ben Snyder, and Athletic Director Janet James Bailey '79.

This is the twelfth NCAA Division II sports team at GSC. The team will be competing in the spring 2012 West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference baseball schedule.

"I am pleased to announce the return of NCAA Division II baseball to Glenville State's athletic programs. Since the GSC baseball program was disbanded in 1983, students, alumni, and fans have called for its return. Now, that will happen," said GSC President Peter Barr.

Ben Snyder, Professor of Landman Technology at GSC, was instrumental in bringing "America's greatest pastime" back to Glenville State. An avid baseball fan, Snyder researched GSC's history of baseball and found records back to 1908 that named then President E. G. Rohrbough as the baseball coach. Beginning in 1934, there was a 13 year period where there was no baseball and then from 1947 to 1983 intercollegiate baseball was once again played at GSC.

After several meetings with Athletic Director Janet Bailey and President Barr, Snyder was given the go ahead to form and chair an exploratory committee to study the feasibility of bringing baseball back to Glenville. "I contacted many former players and coaches and was elated to discover that they were as excited about the possibility as I was and they pledged their full support. The passion for their experience here at Glenville State made me even more determined to get this done."

Speaking of the committee, Snyder said "We did our homework, prepared the report, submitted the final version to the GSC Board of Governors and President Barr, and the decision to bring back baseball was made."

"Until now, Glenville State College was the only WVIAC member school that did not field an intercollegiate baseball team. It is exciting to reinstate baseball back into our athletic program. The Sue Morris Complex provides a state-of-the-art facility where our softball team and now our baseball team can practice and play their sport. I believe our fans will enjoy watching the intercollegiate competition. We appreciate the Baseball Club for 'stepping up to the plate' and Ben Snyder for his perseverance in making this team a reality," said GSC Athletic Director Janet Bailey.

Snyder has been named the interim head coach for the Pioneer baseball team until a full time coach can be hired. He will be assisted by GSC Admissions Counselor Adrian Duelley '08 who was a member of the 2001 Gilmer County High School State Championship baseball team. "I have always loved the game of baseball. To be part of starting the Pioneer team is truly an honor and a dream come true," said Duelley. Travis Beachler, a former pitcher for the Shepherd University Rams, will be the Pioneer pitching coach.

Since the 2011 WVIAC baseball schedule has already begun and GSC is not a part of that schedule, the student athletes now on campus, who are interested in playing baseball this spring, will be playing an anticipated 20 game schedule as a "club team".

"We formed the Glenville State Baseball Club team in the fall of 2009. In the spring of 2010 we only played seven games. As a club team we can only compete against other colleges that have either 'club teams' or junior varsity teams," Snyder said.

This spring the GSC club team has scheduled games against junior varsity teams from West Virginia State University, Rio Grande College, Davis and Elkins College, and the West Virginia University Club teams.

All home games will be played on the Kenny Greenlief ('69) Field at the Sue Morris Complex in Glenville. "We are trying to schedule some additional games against other schools this year," added Snyder. "I am very proud to have had a small part in bringing the game I love back to Glenville."

For more information about the GSC Baseball program, contact Assistant Coach Adrian Duelley at adrian.duelley@glenville.edu or (304) 462-6136.

June 16 – 19, 2011

On Tuesday, July 20, 2010 the bell in the College's clock tower was removed for preservation. The iconic bell had rung for decades but had been silent for the past several years since the hourly chime started coming from speakers controlled by a computer system in the clock tower.

The bell and clockworks have been restored and now proudly rest in their new home for all to see as they make their way to either the Alan B. Mollohan Campus Community Center or to Goodwin Hall as the Campus Bell House sits between these two buildings.

A crew from BBL Carlton Construction Company removed the bell and constructed its new home as they were finishing up construction on Goodwin Hall.

In talking about the bell as it was being removed from the clock tower last July, Jason Phares '00, Classified Staff Representative on the GSC Board of Governors and a member of the Clock Tower Project Committee said, "The bell is an indescribably important piece of history to former students, the community, and to those of us who hear the bell ringing every day. Glenville State College is the site of many events for the community, visitors, and alumni, so we hope to make this historic display easily visible and available to everyone who comes to campus."

The bell, with an estimated weight of 1,000 pounds, had hung in the Harry B. Heflin Administration Building's clock tower since 1901 and has long been a symbol of "the Lighthouse on the Hill". The ringing of the bell is an hourly tradition that has been taking place for more than one hundred years. The familiar sound to students, faculty, staff, GSC alums, and other campus visitors keeps everyone on time as they go about their daily schedules.

Noted photo-journalist Mark Romano's first solo photography exhibit was on display in GSC's Fine Arts Gallery in February and March 2011. "One Hundred Years of Location Photography in Appalachia" featured thirty-four black and white photographs depicting life in West Virginia.

The exhibit consisted of historical photos from the archives of photographer Finley Taylor, the News Leader newspaper of Richwood, and the work of Mark Romano '92. Speaking of the photo/art show, Romano said "These photographs represent lasting images of the lives of the people of this area. I feel that it is important to preserve this pictorial history of West Virginia."

While a student at Glenville State College, Romano's interest in photo-journalism was sparked by two of his professors; Photography Professor Charles Scott and Journalism Professor Yvonne King '57, both GSC Faculty Emeriti. Romano received a Bachelor of Arts degree in English from GSC in 1992. He is the author of seven books that include historical photo collections of Nicholas and Webster Counties, and other pictorial publications. Romano's photos have hung in the Best of West Virginia exhibit at Tamarac and have been displayed at many fairs and festivals in West Virginia.

Romano discussed his work at GSC's Robert F. Kidd Library on February 7, 2011 and at that time, donated six of his photographs, valued at $1,000.00, to his alma mater.

He was especially pleased to see so many of his former professors that day, specifically Mr. Charles Scott (and his wife, Janet), Mrs. Yvonne King, Mr. Ralph Bame, and Mr. Wayne deRosset.

Additionally a reception for Romano was held that evening in the Fine Arts Gallery.
