Rural Childcare Joint Resource Guide USDA & ACF

Child Care in Rural America

This Joint Resource Guide was developed in partnership with the U.S. Department of Agriculture – Rural Development (USDA-RD) and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services – Administration for Children and Families (HHS-ACF) Office of Early Childhood Development. The purpose of this guide is to provide useful information to help stakeholders in rural communities – including Tribes and Tribal organizations – address the need for improved access to affordable, high-quality child care and early learning facilities.

We encourage you to use the resources in this document to develop meaningful partnerships to bolster early childhood development in your communities. By working together to strengthen child care and early learning infrastructure, you can ensure the success of working families and promote a robust rural economy.
